Prostate Cancer Support Regina commits to the following values.

Compassion: We will show empathy, caring and understanding to each other, our members and all persons with whom we interact.

Integrity:We will act with trust, honesty, and truthfulness.

Ethics: We will exercise the highest standards of professionalism, including placing the welfare of our organization above our personal interests.

Respect: We will treat each other, our members, partners and the community with respect, always open to opinions of others and respecting each other's privacy.

Inclusion: We will be an open and welcoming community to persons of all ethnicities, ages, genders, beliefs, professional and economic status.

Community: We will treat the subject of prostate cancer with the seriousness it deserves, while behaving with each other with a sense of friendship, fun and good humor.
